THE GIN

The world's first climate positive gin, distilled from peas (Pisum sativum L. 'Daytona') grown on the Arbikie estate, with citrus leaf and lemongrass. Peas need no nitrogen fertiliser, giving a carbon footprint of -1.54 kg CO₂e per 700 ml bottle. Nàdar is Gaelic for 'nature'. Perfect serve: 50 ml over ice, topped with light tonic and a lime leaf.

TASTING NOTES

THE DISTILLERY

Arbikie is a field-to-bottle distillery on a 2,000-acre family farm on Scotland's east coast, opened in 2014. The grain, rye and potatoes are grown, harvested, distilled and bottled on the estate — their stated vision is to be one of the world's most sustainable distilleries.
